

Cultural Note

Indonesians often start conversations by asking simple personal questions such as where you are from or where you live.

These questions are friendly and polite, not intrusive.

Using Anda is neutral and polite, especially when meeting someone for the first time.